

SHE HE SMUGGLED GEMS

Customs Case Recalls $300,000
Theft from Mrs. J. W. Jenkins.

SHE TURNS ON OLD FRIEND

After Quarrel Over Recovery of Jewels She Tells Richard Parr
How He Brought Them In.

AN AFTERMATH to the mysterious disappearance two years ago of $300,000 worth of jewels belonging to Mrs. John W. Jenkins, a wealthy man of advanced age, has become involved in a smuggling case, and the bringing in of this country of the jewels in question. At the time of the alleged theft Mrs. Jenkins called on the police for aid, but the detectives dropped the case a few days later. The customs authorities received an information some time ago that the jewels had been brought in without the payment of duty. Richard Parr, who made the investigation in connection with sugar frauds, was informed that evidence to that effect could be obtained, and after a conference with Collector Leeb he began to investigate the case.

Meanwhile Mrs. Jenkins returned with the jewels again in her possession, and the customs officials finally succeeded in persuading her to become a witness for the government. She informed them that her old adviser had purchased the jewels in Europe and brought them to her in this country, forgetting to declare them or to pay the duty.

Collector Leeb said yesterday that the evidence obtained by Mr. Parr had been turned over to Henry A. Wise, United States Attorney, for action, and that the matter would be presented to the grand jury. It was also learned that counsel in Chicago who represents the accused man has admitted to the government officials that at least a part of the jewels had been smuggled.

The name of the aged admirer of Mrs. Jenkins, who failed to pay duty on gifts intended for her, was not disclosed by Collector Leeb. He said the case had been turned over to the United States Attorney, and therefore he did not think it proper to disclose the name of the man is very wealthy," said the Collector, "and from what I have learned he may be worth twenty or thirty millions."

In the chain of wealthy Western admirers who were said to have bestowed gifts of jewelry upon Mrs. Jenkins, Nathan Alton of Kenosha, Wis., the organizer of the Leather Trust, was mentioned at the time of the disappearance of the jewels. But not all the jewels that were "stolen" from Mrs. Jenkins were gifts from the same person, though the greater part of her collection, received from one man, had come in free of duty.

A customs official said yesterday that Mrs. Jenkins recovered her jewels shortly after their disappearance, in 1909. This feat was accomplished with the aid of a large private detective agency. In some manner the recovery led to an estrangement between Mrs. Jenkins and her aged admirer, and this aided the government officials in persuading her to turn evidence against him.

He got some inkling of the change of detective agency to find out what was happening. The customs officials were shadowed, and finally the private agency made public a story implying that a blackmailing scheme was about to be sprung against the man who retained it. In reply to this move Collector Leeb gave out the facts of the case.

SAY 5 CHEATED UNCLE SAM

Men in Commissary Department
Arrested for Selling Food.

Five men of the Commissary Department of the United States army were arrested yesterday on the charge of having sold government property in the shape of pies, eggs and other articles of food, to soldiers during a transport. William C. Hecht, United States deputy marshal, with four assistants, waited at the government dock, near Wall street, to take charge of the prisoners as soon as the transport Kipler arrived from Galveston.

Although facing criminal charges, the five men seemed glad to get into the custody of the marshal. Since Wednesday they had been locked up in the ship's prison, and plenty of bread and water was the menu that stared at them day after day. The elaborate fare in the Tombs looked up like a feast before them.

On the second day the Kipler arrived from Galveston rumors reached Quartermaster Macnab that the men on board were buying supplies from the "hatchery" men and from the bakery and kitchen. A dozen reliable men were put at the service of the quartermaster to ferret out what was going on. In the course of two days eight affidavits were made out against William Davis, a butcher; four against Abe Niel, a cook; two against Hans Peck, chief baker, and two against James Saunders, chief cook.

After a short visit to the Tombs the men were marched before John A. Shields, United States Commissioner, for examination. This was postponed until to-morrow afternoon, and meanwhile each of the prisoners was held in $1,000 bail.

MORE STATIONARY PATROLMEN.

Police Commissioner Waldo announced yesterday that he had installed more stationary night posts in the department, the 4th inspection district, in command of Inspector "Smiling Dick" Walsh, being added. This district embraces the precincts of the East 35th street, East 37th street, West 5th street and West 6th street stations.

SUES PERIODICAL HOUSE

Solicitor of Subscriptions Asks for $100,000 Damages.

GOVERNMENT MADE INQUIRY

Department of Justice Investigated Concern to See if It Violated Sherman Law.

John Thomas Wood, doing business as the Publishers' Subscription Exchange, has filed suit in the Supreme Court against the Periodical Clearing House for $100,000 damages, alleging that the defendants, who are also the publishers of magazines, were in a conspiracy against him which has completely wrecked his business.

It has been learned, too, that a representative of the Department of Justice has made inquiry into the affairs of the Periodical Clearing House to ascertain whether it was operated in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

Wood's business was to solicit advertising and subscriptions for the publications of the clearing house, on which he received commissions. For the year from 1909 to 1910, he said, he did business amounting to $20,000. Wood said that the defendant company controls twenty-five publications, that it had no cash money, and that the corporations were clerks and other employees.

He alleged that the corporation also dictated the subscription rates on magazines published by companies which are not members. He had a contract with the company which gave him 5 cents on every subscription that he received for the company. But he made a contract with several of the members directly which gave him better rates.

Thereupon, according to Wood, the clearing house imposed upon him a large fine for alleged violation of his contract with it. This fine, he said, was levied because he refused to accept the terms of the defendant corporation, which, he alleged, was a combination against public policy.

Wood obtained yesterday from Justice Clerk an order to examine before trial C. D. Lanier, vice-president of the Periodical Clearing House, and Colonel George Harvey, of Harper & Brothers, with regard to the meeting at which the fine was levied against him. He also desires to see the books and papers of the concern.

The attention of the Department of Justice, it was said, had been called to the Periodical Clearing House by several public libraries throughout the country.

ASSAULT MYSTERY DEEPENS

Woman's Story of Drugging
Borne Out by Physician.

The efforts of the police yesterday to solve the mystery of the strange attack Friday afternoon on Mrs. Annie Appel and her daughter, at No. 2169 Third avenue, only resulted in making the puzzle apparently further from solution than at first. When Mrs. Appel regained consciousness at Harlem Hospital yesterday morning, she professed entire ignorance of everything that had happened since she lay down quietly to sleep Friday afternoon.

The police say that it is hardly possible for the struggle with an assailant, as described by the daughter, Annie, to have occurred without waking the mother. Dr. Ritter, however, who was called in to attend the women, said there could be no doubt that a third person had been in the room, and that he was a strong man, as the finger marks on the girl's throat could not have been made except by a powerful assailant. He said he also applied the hysterical and the "bluff" test to the young woman, and there could be no doubt that she was under the influence of some drug.

It was discovered yesterday that the daughter's right name is Mrs. William Douglas, she having left her husband five years ago, and resumed her maiden name. The child in the family called Goldie is her daughter. The police say that several peculiar facts of this sort in the girl's life add to their mystification.

The daughter was allowed to return home yesterday. She stuck to her story of the assault and drugging. She agreed with the police, however, that the robbery was not the main thing, as she had first declared, but she could offer no other explanation of the attack.

CASH FOR UNITED WIRELESS

Receivers Here Permitted to Aid
Colleagues Elsewhere.

Justice Page granted yesterday the application of Robert E. Dowling and Sidney Harris, receivers in New York for the United Wireless Telegraph Company, for permission to advance necessary money to the receivers of the company in New Jersey and $1,000 to the Ohio receivers to keep the business of the corporation going and rehabilitating it.

Messrs. Dowling and Harris said, in order to conserve the property of the company, it was necessary for the receivers in the several states to work in harmony. It was represented that the Jersey City factory had many contracts to finish wireless apparatus for steamers that had to be equipped by July 1 under the law requiring all vessels travelling beyond two hundred miles from the port of call and carrying fifty passengers and crew to have the wireless system.

The United Wireless has wireless system. The receivers also asked permission to make new contracts. They will advance the necessary money to finish the work now in hand and turn over to the Ohio receivers $2,000 to pay the operators on the Great Lakes stations. The receivers said the monthly income of the company was $25,000, and they were paying $500 a week to boat operators and $500 a week to land operators. The weekly payroll of the Jersey City factory amounts to $350.

SAY B. R. T. WILL ACCEPT

Persons Familiar with Subway
Problem Predict Agreement.

INTERBOROUGH IN DOUBT

Belief That Manhattan Company
Will Come to Terms at the Last Moment.

Persons in touch with the transit situation were positive last night that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company would accept the terms of the city for the extension of rapid transit lines. They said the only question was whether the acceptance of the terms would be sent to the Public Service Commission and the conference committee of the Board of Estimate to-morrow or on Tuesday.

When it came to saying what the interborough would do the convictions were not so positive. But by no process of reasoning could the persons who realize the situation come to the conclusion that the interborough would refuse the terms of the McAneny report.

It was learned yesterday that President Williams of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company had a talk with Controller Prendergast, President Mitchell of the Board of Aldermen and Borough President McAneny in the office of the Finance Department on Friday afternoon. It was said that Mr. Williams had called to see the Controller on another matter, and happened to come upon a meeting of one of the subcommittees of the Board of Estimate.

So they all turned in and talked subway. It is understood that at that time the members of the Board of Estimate got a pretty definite idea of what the position of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit would be on the ultimatum of the city.

So far as could be learned yesterday President Shonts had given no direct indication of what the answer of the interborough would be. It is thought, however, that the company will not make its answer until the last possible moment. There was no one in authority at the offices of the interborough yesterday, and whatever work on the plan was being done by the directors or engineers was being done elsewhere. It was said that the interborough had retained two firms of expert accountants who had never done any work for them before to check up the figures on the plan.

Borough President McAneny, chairman of the conference committee of the Board of Estimate, took a trip over some of the proposed routes in Brooklyn yesterday. He would have been accompanied by Borough Presidents Miller and Cromwell, his associates on the committee, but both were out of the city. Borough President Steers, however, offered to act as an escort to the chairman of the committee. Commissioner Maltbie went along to represent the Public Service Commission.

First the party went to South Brooklyn to look over the proposition of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit for the extension of the Fourth avenue subway. The company has offered to elevate the Culver, Sea Beach and West End lines beside the present right of way, keeping the surface tracks, which are operated under a steam road franchise, untouched. There is also to be determined just where the proposed tunnel to Staten Island is to start. Some have suggested that it go under the Bay from 49th street, but others believe that it would give a better service to the whole of Richmond Borough if it should go directly under the Narrows from Fort Hamilton.

From South Brooklyn the party went to the Eastern District to look over the route of the line that is to be extended from the East River tunnel from 14th street in Manhattan. President McAneny will report to the conference committee and the Public Service Commission to-day.

BUYS AN INFECTED MONKEY

Purchaser Rushes to Hospital on Reading News—One Missing.

One of the two infected monkeys that escaped from the experimental department of the Willard Parker Hospital has been returned.

A man returned the little animal early in the morning, saying that he had bought it from two men on the river front, between 18th and 23d streets. He added that he had it at his clear store, at No. 323 East 14th street, but on reading the report that two infected monkeys were missing made haste to return it.

The second monkey is supposed to be still ramping about the city spreading its scarlet fever germs. Sleuths are in search.

WILL REST BEFORE TEST

Twelve Candidates for Fire Chief
To Be Relieved of Duty.

James Creelman, president of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, has written a letter to Fire Commissioner Johnson relative to the coming mental examination of candidates for the chief of the Fire Department, to be held on July 10 and 11. Twelve of the fifteen deputy fire chiefs will take the examination, having been put to the physical test last week. In his letter Mr. Creelman says:

"As this examination will be a most trying one, it is very important that those who are to take it should come equally fresh and their minds free from disturbances and troubles."

The letter then suggests to the Fire Commissioner that the candidates be relieved from as much duty as possible for a day or two prior to the examination. Mr. Johnson had a consultation with Acting Chief Kenyon, and it was arranged that for the two days before the examination the twelve candidates be relieved from the responsibilities of their posts and their duties placed on the shoulders of the battalion chiefs and those deputy chiefs who will not take the examination.

New-York Tribune's Towns and Cities Contest

Beginning To-morrow, June 26th

WHAT TOWNS OR CITIES DO THESE PICTURES REPRESENT?

The first three official Towns and Cities Contest pictures will appear in To-morrow's Tribune. Be Ready to Enter.

Over $15,000 in Prizes in Tribune's New Contest.

Rules of the Contest To-day.

THE excellence of the prizes that go to make up the awards in The Tribune's new contest is making a strong appeal to the thousands of readers who are preparing to enter the contest to-morrow.

There is a long list of valuable and attractive grand prizes, and more than a thousand individual awards, approximating more than $15,000 in value. From the many warm letters that come from enthusiastic readers it is evident that these fine prizes will be eagerly contested for.

To-day The Tribune publishes elsewhere, in this edition, a full page announcement illustrating and describing the magnificent rewards is fully guaranteed by the manufacturer to be of select character and of the most desirable quality. To win them requires no greater labor than a few spare moments devoted each day to the solving of the interesting and entertaining Towns and Cities Contest puzzle pictures.

The first of the series of Towns and Cities pictures will appear in The Tribune TO-MORROW, JUNE 26, and thereafter three illustrations will appear each day in The Tribune for a period of about sixty-five days.

Each illustration will represent the name of a town or city that is located in the United States or Canada. Each picture will be plainly and clearly depicted—and each will be simple and easy to solve.

The rules and regulations governing the competition are also published to-day. They have been carefully drawn along the broadest lines conceivable and cannot fail to meet with the approval of every one. All who are contemplating entering the contest should read them carefully in order that they may be enabled to follow the plan closely without error.

New specimen pictures are also published again to-day. They are intended to give all a clear understanding of the character of the official illustrations to be shown throughout the period of the contest. Note these sample pictures carefully, and try to name the towns and cities they represent before you look at the written answers.

The contest is arranged for every member of the family, both old and young.

Persons living at a distance from or outside of New York will be eligible to enter, as well as those who live in the city.

Only employees of The Tribune and members of their families are barred.

Parents should encourage the young people to enter, as they, too, have an equal opportunity to capture the big prizes. The solving of the puzzle pictures will prove to be a diverting, instructive and educational.

Remember that if you have not travelled extensively you will be handicapped in competing, as the nature of the puzzle pictures to be shown will be such that almost everybody will be enabled to solve the pictures correctly in nearly all instances.

Each town or city to be illustrated will bear the name of the state or province in which it is located in order that contestants may decide definitely as to the correct solutions.

The object in publishing three pictures each day is to carry the contestants mentally over a larger area of territory, and at the same time make the contest more interesting and instructive.

Prepare to enter the contest to-day. Tell your newsdealer to begin serving you with a copy of The Tribune every day from now on, so that you will be ready for the first official pictures when they appear to-morrow.

If you live out of the city and your newsdealer cannot supply you with The Tribune regularly, write to the Contest Manager, and the paper will be delivered by mail.

My answers to The Tribune's Sample Towns and Cities Pictures are as follows:

(a) Appleton Minn.
(b) Bridgewater Va.
(c) Ravenwood Mo.
Name William Townsend
P. O. Address New York City.

RULES OF THE CONTEST.

Each day for about sixty-five days, beginning June 26th, The Tribune will publish, Daily and Sunday, three illustrations, cartoons or other representations of the name of a town or city located in the United States or Canada.

The names of the towns and cities to be illustrated are being selected by The New-York Tribune and will be included in The Tribune's Contest Catalogue of towns and cities, which will be published as a guide and reference to contestants for use in the contest.

The contest is open to all regular readers of the Daily and Sunday Tribune, excepting employees and members of their families.

Any person not accepted as above mentioned may enter the contest at any time by becoming a reader of The New-York Tribune Daily and Sunday editions.

Contestants must indicate the town and city represented by the picture upon the coupon provided therefor. Coupons may be filled out with pen, pencil, typewriter or printed in any manner to suit the fancy of the contestant.

Where contestants are not certain as to the name of the town and city illustrated they will be permitted to send five or more answers to each picture, of the correct answer is given incorrect answers will not count against the contestant.

Only three answers may be written upon a single coupon. Extra blanks should be used for additional answers, and all answers to the same number should be kept together in making up the set. Where contestants wish to submit but one or two extra answers they may do so without filling out the entire coupon.

Hold all answers until after the end of the contest, then arrange your answers in neat, numerical order, fasten the coupons securely together, and deliver or mail them, wrapped in a neat, flat package (not folded or rolled), plainly addressed to the CONTEST MANAGER, NEW-YORK TRIBUNE, New York City.

The time of receiving answers will have no effect upon the awarding of prizes. However, all answers must be deposited at the office of The New-York Tribune or in the mails on or before a given hour, to be announced later, and within ten days after the last three pictures have appeared.

The prizes will be awarded to the contestants sending in the correct or nearest correct list of names to the entire series of towns and cities illustrations. In the event of a tie between two or more persons the contestant answering the greatest number of towns and cities pictures correctly with the smallest number of blanks will be declared the winner.

Although several members of a family may compete in the contest, only one prize will be awarded to any one household or member thereof, and only one set of answers may be submitted by any individual contestant.

Participation in any other contest now being run will not detract from any one from entering this contest.

A judging committee, to be announced later, will make the awards strictly on the basis of correctness and similarity of the exact wording and spelling of the names of the towns and cities as will be selected by The New-York Tribune and will be published as a guide and reference to contestants for use in the contest.

The names of the towns and cities to be illustrated are being selected by The New-York Tribune and will be included in The Tribune's Contest Catalogue of towns and cities, which will be published as a guide and reference to contestants for use in the contest.
